

Static spherically symmetric space-time and nonlinear spinor field

Bijan Saha

Laboratory of Information Technologies, Joint Institute for Nuclear Research, Dubna,
Moscow region, Russia, 141980

Institute of Physical Research and Technologies, People's Friendship University, Moscow, Russia

e-mail: bijan@jinr.ru, <http://spinor.bijansaha.ru>

Abstract. We studied nonlinear spinor fields in the framework of a static spherically symmetric space-time. In doing so we have suggested a rather simple method to solve the corresponding Einstein equations. As an example, a nonlinear spinor field was considered. The corresponding equations were solved analytically and numerically.

Keywords: spinor field, spherically symmetric model

PACS numbers: 98.80.Cq

References

- [1] Bronnikov K.A. and Rubin S.G. Black Holes, Cosmology and extra Dimensions. (World Scientific, Singapore, 2013)
- [2] Rybakov, Yu. P., Saha B. and Shikin, G.N. Int. J. Theor. Phys. 36, 1475 (1997)
- [3] Saha B. and Shikin G.N. Gen. Relat. Grav. 29, 1099 (1997)
- [4] Saha B. hys. Rev. D 64, 123501 (2001)
- [5] Saha B. Phys. Rev. D 74, 124030 (2006)
- [6] Saha B. Phys. Part. Nucl. 49, 146 (2018)
- [7] Saha B. Eur. Phys. J. Plus 133 461 (2018)
- [8] Dzhunushaliev V., Folomeev V., and Makhmudov A. Phys. Rev. D 99 076009 (2019).
- [9] Bronnikov K.A., Rybakov Yu.P., and Saha B. Eur.Phys. J. Plus 135 124 (2020)
- [10] Bronnikov K.A. et. al. Rastall's theory of gravity: Spherically symmetric solutions and the stability problem. (2020) (arXiv: gr-qc/2007.01945)
- [11] Pauli W. Annalen Der Physik 5, 337 (1933)
- [12] Brill D., Wheeler J. Rev. Mod. Phys. 29, 465 (1957)
- [13] Bronnikov K.A. Acta Phys. Polon. B 4, 251 (1973)
- [14] Shikin G.N. Fundamentals of the theory of solitons in general relativity. (URSS, Moscow, 1995)
- [15] Saha B. Static spherically symmetric space-time: some remarks. (2020) (arXiv: gr-qc/2008.13058)